UPDATE: Tsunami Advisory Continues for Guam and CNMI

The U.S. Geological Survey recorded an earthquake with a preliminary magnitude of 8.0, that was later upgraded to magnitude of 8.8, that occurred 133 km SE of Petropavlovsk-Kamchatsky, Russia with a depth of 74.0 km, at 9:24 a.m. (ChST).

The Tsunami Advisory remains in effect for Guam and CNMI.

Remain out of the water. The community is advised to move inland, away from beaches.

Potential impacts include sea level fluctuations, minor flooding of beach and harbor areas, and strong and unusual ocean currents in harbors, bays, and other near shore waters.

Waves up to a foot have been observed in Guam's tide gauges, with similar wave heights expected, but gradually diminish, in the coming hours.
